DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group II, claims 10-14, in Paper No. 5 received September 8, 2003 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that no serious burden will be presented to examine Group I, claims 1-9. This is not found persuasive because the search for each is not the same and the expanded search will create a serious burden upon the Examiner.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over White et al., US 5,339,252.

White discloses a system for last manufacturing for custom fitting footwear where a central storage facility last database 116 stores the particular sizing information used for producing a last where pieces of footwear in inventory are molded to lengths and shapes that are different from the original shape of the inventory (col. 3, lines 28-68, col. 10, lines 46-65).

White does not specifically disclose a shoe distribution center or heating unit.

Art Unit: 3627

However, White does disclose retail outlet stores used to sell the footwear. It is noted that heating units and shoe distribution centers are common knowledge within the shoe last art. To have provided a shoe distribution center and a heating unit for the last database of White would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. It is noted that remolding of shoe inventory material is well known in the shoe art.
